An unemployed miner (Old News & Letters) "I know I'm in worse shape than a lot of the men who laid off like me. I've got 7 kids, I get extra healthcare more than a guy with nobody but himself to keep. $29 a week. If I pay the rent and utilities, there'd be nothing left for food; and I'm not going to see my kids starve."

"I'm pretty sure my father-in-law pays the rent and utilities all wasn't for him, I'd have been out a month ago. I've been too good hands, only what good are they when you can't find any work? Something has just got to be done for me, for everybody else who is in the same boat."

MILLIONS OFF

This sentiment, expressed by a laid-off coal miner, is being echoed by millions of workers throughout the country. Every day new day statistics indicate that the depression is deepening. Lay-offs continue among the mine workers, steel workers, automobile workers, and others who are working in affiliated industries.

Every one knows that the official statistics—over 6 million unemployed—are false for they do not count those not on unemployment insurance. If the statistics are true, not only will you be working with millions of unemployed, but you will be working in a depressed economy. Nor do the figures count the millions who are on relief. Nor do the figures count the 2 million whose compensation benefits are now expiring.

The statistics don't show those workers who are out of work not for money, but because they work only a single day a week. That was the method all the auto and steel companies used to prevent the workers from getting unemployment insurance. A man with a wife and 4 children coming in $25 a week is in even more of a bad position. Big Business hoped to demoralize the workers in the hope of getting increased profits by lower wages. But the statistics are wrong.

Now, management is using the unemployed statistics to try to shake the worker with the worst working conditions and the highest inflation he has been

"BUY NOW CAMPAIGN"

Those who are out of work can but grinningly laugh at the "expert" advice from President Eisenhower to "Buy." They not only don't get enough to get decent living standard; most of them are in debt, losing cars, homes and appliances on which they cannot make payments. "Yes, I'll buy more," said one worker, "If Eisenhower or Ford will give me the chance to work." The statistics that those workers off are all right, will make a fortune in new sales."

"Expert" Advice from President Eisenhower to "Buy." They not only don't get enough to get decent living standard; most of them are in debt, losing cars, homes and appliances on which they cannot make payments. "Yes, I'll buy more," said one worker, "If Eisenhower or Ford will give me the chance to work." The statistics that those workers off are all right, will make a fortune in new sales."

"As we production workers realize and know, times are getting rough with all of us. We are now come to the crucial time of having to ask you to help us as much so possible so that we can all keep on letting the world know how the production workers feel."

"We know how hard it is to find any paper that will print exactly the conditions that occur in our work. We know how to do so no longer."

"As you know, the printer has to be paid before we can get the paper."

"We appeal to our readers for money to help publish News & Letters. These past three years, the financing has been made mainly by the group of workers and intellectuals who first started this workers paper, which is the only one of its kind anywhere. We can do so no longer."

"For we are grown up now" is that they have grown away from the workers. Today workers are only thought of when they want to clip them for money, or try to fool us to get votes for some politician. One worker said, "I will have to defend the union against the company and the McClellan investigation committee, but I know they are behind the leaders of the company."

"I know the money that the contract is to expire, something unheard of in past years. Workers are saying we are going down, down, on this ship."
1957-Banner Year for Death In the Mining Industry

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—The human sacrifices to the great god Coal, and its human operators, continue on an ever increasing scale. The tragic toll of the mining industry on its workers' lives brutally ended in 1957 at the age of 71, with fatalities amounting to 1,171 deaths per million man-hours at risk. Of these casualties, 90 were the result of accidents, and 881 occurred during the normal work in the mines. The human sacrifices to the mining industry, nine per cent, is a staggering admission of the human operator's risk.

Under the pressure of the machine and the boss, who can watch all men by simply walking through the mine and closing down of operations that have taken place in the last several months. To be held as it may, even using the official figures, the lives of three out of ten miners are being marred by the marauding of men outages to every human instinct. Taking on top of this, the innumerable mining days, which is a high price, the estimate shows that the lives of 45 million of our people are being lost.

SPEED-UP, TECHNOLOGY INCREASES THE DANGER

It would seem incredible that this ruthless carnage could be clearly seen as advanced in the field of technology as is the U.S. But the tragic story of this advance in technology is that the conditions of the miners are getting worse. The technology goes into the mining of coal in shorter periods of time, with little or no consideration for the men who must operate these machines. The conditions are brought about by this tremendously increased rate of production.

In the operations of a mine involving the continuous miners, the forward movement into a seam of coal is greatly increased over the old methods of mining. One of the consequences of this is the increased production of methane gas, which is highly explosive. And the drive of the widened cutters or the increased production often results in a reduced ventilation of the mine, with the ventilating. The ventilation to drive off dangerous accumulations of the explosive gases.

INHUMAN FACE

The pace which the continuous miner sets on the man is human in the extreme. It is described by the engineers as the most dangerous thing to happen at all about the personnel of the mine. But the boss, who is trying to get the man to do his job faster, is something else. He thinks that is the only way that he can make the machine. BOSS MAKES MARKS

One night, the cutter was supposed to start a cross cut, and our regular boss put up the chalk marks for him to cut by. Now, a cutter is going to try to cut according to those marks he sees there. They may be wrong according to the boss, but they tell him that he can't be held responsible for anything else.

As it was, the boss had put his chalk marks up. But this cutter was a good cutter, and his chalk marks show how he is doing his job, but the owners don't want them now that they are laid off.

“IF THERE’S ONE THING WORSE THAN A BOSS—IT’S A GUY WHO IS BUCKING TO BE ONE”

FAIRMONT, W. Va.—This man we have on our section is bucking to be a boss. He’s bucking to be a boss. He’s always trying to put his 2c worth in any time our boss has anything to do.

Our boss isn’t such a bad guy. He’s been around and he knows the men. He knows that he can’t get away with anything with us, because we are the best men in the world and it just hasn’t worked. So he knows where we stand, and he takes us to stand.

But this guy, who is trying to get the man to do his job faster, is something else. He thinks that there is no one who can do it.

BOSS MAKES MARKS

One night, the cutter was supposed to start a cross cut, and our regular boss put up the chalk marks for him to cut by. Now, a cutter is going to try to cut according to those marks he sees there. They may be wrong according to the boss, but they tell him that he can’t be held responsible for anything else.

As it was, the boss had put his chalk marks up. But this cutter was a good cutter, and his chalk marks show how he is doing his job, but the owners don’t want them now that they are laid off.

“THE RIGHT IS RIGHT”

What’s the boss going to do? He didn’t want to get in trouble. He started to raise holy hell. The cross-cut was marked up wrong. He yelled to the boss to get to where the cut had been made. The section boss came running, and the pit boss was there to do the job. He was trying to do mark as the cross-cut up the way the man wanted.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD

What has the Working Man Got

The world is so full of hate, especially the American worker, that the other countries and the Negro peoples are coming around and, until they can say and do anything they want, they have no idea of how to get killed or not.

THIRTY DOLLARS

We only get $30.00 a week, which isn’t very much, but it’s enough for us. Our boss wants us to work hard, and they can’t see what a big mistake they are making by making us work hard. They are just one brief lapse in their lives.

CRYIN’ THE BLUES

Some of the guys that are laid off are crying the blues, and they are just as lazy as everyone else. They are doing good, because they have their own homes, new cars and staff wagons, collecting their $30.00 a week, they are still crying the blues.

WHO IS LUCKY?

The cross-cut was marked up wrong. He yelled to the boss to get to where the cut had been made. The section boss came running, and the pit boss was there to do the job. He was trying to do mark as the cross-cut up the way the man wanted.

Lay down on my bed, and cry to the moon, and the stars.

M.Y.FIFTH BIRTHDAY: 1934

The sky on my fifth birthday was a jewel, the world was full of sunshine. The blossoming earth belonged to any fool, I thought. And seeing bugs and birds were wonderful.

Humanly, the human race’s plunder.

I prided myself on my pistol, set off sneaking behind my trees and bushes, dread avenger.

And drew a bead. But O there rose a clanking

The sky six Negroes marched in chains beneath

Till the prisoners rise from digging graves

To a world where the guns will hover oyer us all

The blossoming earth and jewel of the sky.

M.G.
DETROIT.—Production workers throughout the auto industry have been anxiously waiting to find out what the President of the International will come out with now that the great 1968 contracts.

As all production workers know, the decision on his staff claim they have put in a multitude of hours, in effect trying to make the companies sharing in their profit

WHAT AVERAGE WORKER THINKS

We are not interested in the long range plans of the men, or the shop.

As late as it is now, with 452,000 more unemployed in the country, we are not interested in how this plan going to feed and clothe all these people's little ones. We see each and every day that Reuther is not going to straighten up fast, or even provide enough work.

WHAT HAPPENS TO UNEMPLOYED

There is no more money to be made working on what the production workers live or dies, just as there is no more money to pay checks come in regular.

Workers haven't heard, or read, anything about doing anything about the hun-

COMPANY TRIES

The companies seem to be hangin on the union and not willing to talk about anything new, just extending the contract for 2 years.

What happens to the profit sharing, what happens to the way workers work this week and most important of all what is happening to these unemployed and those working so hard in the shops?

—Production Worker

EMERGENCY MINE WORKERS

$30 a week might pay for the rent and utilities, but it left mighty little for food. The surplus food, being doled out to the unemployed who happened to be in possession, could hardly provide anything like the needs of a family. And nobody seemed to have time to give them anything.

gardian Revolution you can see how her thoughts flow into the lives of the workers and their thoughts.

Another thing I felt could be brought out is that we do not see theory as a life and death struggle then you create a void and that void gets filled with something like Russian Communism or American McCarthyism.

NEW WAY OF LIFE

I noticed in the December issue of NEWS & LETTERS, to take another example, the articles by workers that show that workers think their own thoughts.

ECONOMIC PRODUCTION WORKER

The workers haven't heard, or read, anything about the future of the production workers. Reuther controlled convention.

"How can Reuther get us a new way of life, when it doesn't even look like he is doing anything about the people's lives?"

He said it to Reuther at a Reuther controlled convention back in the "58 UAW Contract." He said, "How can Reuther get us a new way of life, when it doesn't even look like he is doing anything about the people's lives?"

Or take the UAW delegate who got up and stated in the union hall, "The reason I was so excited when I read the "Two Worlds" column to the workers, was that they have a dream world, apart from the real lives of real men."

The reason I was so excited when I read the "Two Worlds" column to the workers, was that they have a dream world, apart from the real lives of men.

Perhaps the best of the time I find it difficult to take my place in the union and think. Labor schools could be established and the workers could take their seats in the union and think. Labor schools could be established and the workers could take their seats in the union and think.

GOING TO DO?

The Men will know that nobody is going to do anything about the unemployed. And if Reuther doesn't straighten up, and workers want to go our individual ways. They don't seem to care about this. They don't seem to care about this.

There's no hope for the men that Reuther has made at some athletic event. They will just know that nobody is going to do anything about this.

THE WORKER THINKS

The reason I was so excited when I read the "Two Worlds" column to the workers, was that they have a dream world, apart from the real lives of men."

Perhaps the best of the time I find it difficult to take my place in the union and think. Labor schools could be established and the workers could take their seats in the union and think. Labor schools could be established and the workers could take their seats in the union and think.

GOING TO DO?

The Men will know that nobody is going to do anything about the unemployed. And if Reuther doesn't straighten up, and workers want to go our individual ways. They don't seem to care about this. They don't seem to care about this.
UNEMPLOYED
After the first of next month I lose my hospitalization so then I have to go out and look for work if I get sick. There's nothing in this world for a worker like that. He has a job. If something happens the whole family insurance runs out after six months you're nothing but a pauper. Unemployed Los Angeles, Calif.

Nixon might think that there can be not a depression here because the economy is so stable. I don't think, however, he could convince an unemployed worker who reported to the compensation office that he had earned $10 the week before and was told he was entitled to $2 a week on the check and got another $10 making the grand total of $12 and I wonder if he and his family to live on. I wish Mr. Nixon had to live that for just one week. Unemployed Detroit

They do not even try to get a job at the employment office. They just go through the formality of asking for a job and then turn over the check. What strikes me most of all when I go down there is how the hundreds of men that they are trying to line up for work and then hand over the check. That really makes me of all the time I have been waiting is how the hundreds of men are losing their homes and their families are hungry and it is really a crime wave. They won't wait until night, either, to do their stealing. They will do it in broad daylight — and really be ready for anybody that tries to stop them.

Wiped Out Los Angeles, Calif.

Every time I see them advertising about CARPET for a few cents a square foot, I get so mad I feel like throwing something through the TV screen. Here we have millions of people who don't know where their next meal is coming from, and they still want people here to send food to people overseas.

Laid off Miner's Wife Los Angeles, Calif.

The police are responsible for the trade unions. We have to understand the trade unions. The workers themselves do not attend the meetings but those who are fortunate indeed that we have in the interest of work. The whole situation is clear to the rank and file workers. I used to work in that union but not now. The method of operation since Raoul Salan's complete control is entirely different from what it used to be.

Take the vote in the elections just recently where 900 of 1,000 workers in the shop turned out to vote. Workers said it was the first time they've ever known a worker to have his name on a slate and not even go to vote for him. Instead Raoul Salan told friends, even if elected to any post there's no way of going against his wishes.

The only possible thing you can do is to particip in something for the Reuther controlled machine.

If something really happened I would be there, like during the rank and file revolt.

Production Worker Detroit

There is a strong feeling among the workers here that a strike should be avoided this Spring. The big question is whether it will be possible to avoid a strike. The companies might force one on them, but they feel there will be nothing to do but fight it out to the bitter end.

The real tragedy is that the UAW proposal for a wage increase of $1.75 will not stop the hunger among the workers and will not improve the conditions of the workers. It is an attempt to make the workers think they are getting something when in fact they are getting nothing.

GM Trim Shop Los Angeles, Calif.

I was very excited to read in a very short article buried in the back pages of a local newspaper about the sitdown strike organized by organized workers in a textile mill in Rhode Island.

The strike must have lasted four or five days. The women refused a court order to return to work. They each had been responsible for running 8 spinning machines and said they were being worked hard enough by the four or five hours a day they had been running up till then. The women left the plant in an agreement from the company on this point.

Reader Los Angeles
Who says that people get government jobs because they are black and need security. A friend of mine is seriously ill, has used up all his life savings to keep paid vacation hospital bills, and now when he needs help, neither has medical insurance nor sick benefits. Nor can he get a job in his city because he worked in another country and has not been employed in the state for the past 3 years. This is what happens to a man who works his whole life.

Disgusted
Los Angeles

NEGRO STRUGGLE

I have read a series of articles from J. Edgar Hoover's book that is current. The book is full of facts about the Communists, their planning, cooperation and their objective. You see, the Communists are world-wide. They have infiltrated every country in the world. The only thing other than a pocket then to control which is no different is from everything that I have experienced in my life in the South, where I could not speak or think as I wanted.

I have also read some letters sent out by White Citizens Councils in Georgia and Mississippi. They sent them to Northern newspapers and said that every leading Negro in the South is Communist or has a connection with them. Every principal, in Negro schools, is a known or an example of Communism. The only answer is to obey. The letter carriers carry little else but the names of these people. From this knowledge, the people will be shot down. Any one know to see someone that someone knows has denounced or any branch of the N.A.A.C.P. is a Communist. The letters concur that the N.A.A.C.P. is a Communist. The letters concur that the N.A.A.C.P. is a Communist. The letters concur that the N.A.A.C.P. is a Communist. The letters concur that the N.A.A.C.P. is a Communist.

NEGRO STRUGGLE

I am a keen reader of your paper and have a few regrets. One is that if I were to have any contributions from Britain despite the fact that we have paper-like yours here. It's vital for the paper to work towards bridging the gap between the intellectual and the manual worker. What can we find for an answer to your question, "Is it because our educational system does not teach us all that we should know about our own history?" When I replied that from the days of the American Revolution, the American intellectuals, the American intellectuals, the American intellectuals, the American intellectuals have moved in a direction that paralleled that of Marxist thought, when I lived and even now, I was asked whether I considered Marx had the answer to today's Automation when he pointed out that he was not the machine which shortened the working day "but the struggle of the workingmen."
Thinking It Out

WENDELL PHILLIPS

Wendell Phillips was one of America's greatest abolitionists. He devoted his life to the cause of emancipating the Negro. Much of his work was done on the lecture platform, as he was a great orator. He had a great talent for speaking and writing, and on the lecture platform, as an enslaved people.

Marxism & Freedom

The Paris Commune

I have been reading "Marxism and Freedom," by Raya Dunayevskaya. It is a powerful book showing the only reason for living, for these "practical" life, I mean from where I see around me. Life is a struggle, and as a struggle, it's going to have to be worth the trouble.

When Wendell Phillips talks of these things in his quote, "The ideal of the soul?"

In the quote as time

I wonder if our government, or any government, thinks this quote, "How can you compensate for the life of a human being? What is its value"

We brought our mothers in to the super's office to get the facts. The committee told me, "Whenver any changes arise of how to get the facts, how difficult it is to put the full ideals of the Co-op into practice today."

My Vice Principal

About two weeks ago, my buddy and I lit up a cigarette on the way home from school. We were two blocks from the school when who should appear, but the vice principal of the school. He took our cigarettes and marched us back to his office. He then gave us a lecture on everything that we were picked up for.

When I asked him for a few dollars to buy food, he objected to kids smoking after they got out of two or three blocks from school. He said, "Supposing you were a grown man and had just lost your job and you died of lung cancer because of smoking. I would have you to be aobing to live in comfort and to be socially ac-

MY VICE PRINCIPAL

About two weeks ago, my buddy and I lit up a cigarette on the way home from school. We were two blocks from the school when who should appear, but the vice principal of the school. He took our cigarettes and marched us back to his office. He then gave us a lecture on everything that we were picked up for.

When I asked him for a few dollars to buy food, he objected to kids smoking after they got out of two or three blocks from school. He said, "Supposing you were a grown man and had just lost your job and you died of lung cancer because of smoking. I would have you to be aobing to live in comfort and to be socially ac-

Marxism & Freedom

The Paris Commune

I have been reading "Marxism and Freedom," by Raya Dunayevskaya. It is a powerful book showing the only reason for living, for these "practical" lives, and thereby made us to total freedom.

One of the reasons given against war was that if all the money spent for war and defense was spent for scientific advancement, we would be further ahead in science than we are now.

I wonder if our government, or any government, thinks this quote, "How can you compensate for the life of a human being? What is its value?"

We brought our mothers in to the super's office to get the facts. The committee told me, "Whenver any changes arise of how to get the facts, how difficult it is to put the full ideals of the Co-op into practice today."

My Vice Principal

About two weeks ago, my buddy and I lit up a cigarette on the way home from school. We were two blocks from the school when who should appear, but the vice principal of the school. He took our cigarettes and marched us back to his office. He then gave us a lecture on everything that we were picked up for.

When I asked him for a few dollars to buy food, he objected to kids smoking after they got out of two or three blocks from school. He said, "Supposing you were a grown man and had just lost your job and you died of lung cancer because of smoking. I would have you to be aobing to live in comfort and to be socially ac-

Marxism & Freedom

The Paris Commune

I have been reading "Marxism and Freedom," by Raya Dunayevskaya. It is a powerful book showing the only reason for living, for these "practical" lives, and thereby made us to total freedom.

One of the reasons given against war was that if all the money spent for war and defense was spent for scientific advancement, we would be further ahead in science than we are now.

I wonder if our government, or any government, thinks this quote, "How can you compensate for the life of a human being? What is its value?"

We brought our mothers in to the super's office to get the facts. The committee told me, "Whenver any changes arise of how to get the facts, how difficult it is to put the full ideals of the Co-op into practice today."

My Vice Principal

About two weeks ago, my buddy and I lit up a cigarette on the way home from school. We were two blocks from the school when who should appear, but the vice principal of the school. He took our cigarettes and marched us back to his office. He then gave us a lecture on everything that we were picked up for.

When I asked him for a few dollars to buy food, he objected to kids smoking after they got out of two or three blocks from school. He said, "Supposing you were a grown man and had just lost your job and you died of lung cancer because of smoking. I would have you to be aobing to live in comfort and to be socially ac-
Homeostasis is a condition in which body activities are in a state of equilibrium. This does not mean stagnation, but a process of balance, wherein the mental and physical, the chemical and hormonal, adjustments are harmoniously coordinated. This is a state of health.

To maintain homeostasis, continual fine adjustment of the body to its environment and of the organs and tissue to their own is fundamental. The stimuli received by our senses is rapidly manifested by changes in our internal organs, the lungs, the heart and its blood channels, the stomach and intestines.

When homeostatic balance is lost the body suffers too intense or too frequent for normal adjustment to follow, a state of stress sets in. Here there is internal pressure—violence, and the body seeks to re-establish equilibrium on a new level by releasing various hormonal and chemical substances from its factories, the nerve center and glands. It may happen that the adjustment is more or less complete, but at a price. For the pressure on any particular organ may cause it to fail, and the functional and structural adjustments required may be on a state of disease. It is this concept of disease from inside to outside, that is making headway in modern medicine.

HIGH PRICE TO PAY
Stress dominates much of our living today. Here is an interesting item from a recent medical journal:

The conductors of London buses who run up and down between the Depot and the lower streets have lower rates for heart attacks than the driver who remains seated on duty. The drivers are subject to stresses far beyond those affecting the conductors; particularly the need for tense alertness.

There is a critical period in the lives of men who retire. It is a phase of adjustment during which stress is at the highest, and mortality greatest. Worry over how to manage financially, and fear of helplessness are the underlying factors. Adjustment is greatly facilitated by retiring to something rather than from something. The significance of help to work. What characterizes life in our times is the disregard of its inner necessity—equilibrium in motion or homeostasis. For this we are paying a high price in sickness.

REPORTS FROM THE SHOPS:
Joe, a friend of mine, told me of a talk he had with an International Representative. He is expecting to be cut out of his job. He has been fighting for profit sharing and for an agreement with the International office, to the effect that a worker in production can not send a grievance or any complaint to the International without the sanction of the local union officers.

In other words the union officers have to hear or read all the complaints and applications and if they reject it then he has to go to the shop. Joe told him he made it all right before he got the job on the union staff. He told Joe, that now he was buying a house for $20,000, that an executive or even an associate is higher class people. He was trying to save a bill not losing a job. Joes company had not paid him any of the thousands of workers that had made this agreement, Joe said, but you guys never think of workers anyway.

A railroad worker said that in his union the leaders of its local had bargained away an agreement with the International office, to the effect that a worker in production can not send a grievance or any complaint to the International without the sanction of the local union officers.

DEPRESSION IN NUMBERS:

Unemployed—Mid April—5,120,000.
Working short weeks—Mid March—3,200,000.

We reprint, without comment, from the CAPITAL TIMES, Madison, Wisconsin, workmen's compensation report:

"You say: "Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) has thrown a searchlight on the misuse of labor union funds."

But why was McClellan so indifferent to the use of oil company funds when it was Caldeen's law firm in Ark. Case, of South Dakota? This was only a small part of the big sums paid out by oil companies to the NLRB, which is a state of health.

The majority leader of the Senate in the State of Texas, and the minority leader of the Senate, Knowles, were picked for the cover-up job. Sen. McClellan has been the repre-
Workers Know It's Getting Worse
(Continued from Page 1)
ployed workers, those received the results of a survey of 5,600 Workers Council companies, who are actually getting more money than those who are working 2 and 3 days a week.

Neither the unemployed who do get something, nor the unemployed benefits, share the "confidence" that the rich and power-to-order experts have in this system. The memories of both the Great Depression and the wars are too vivid in their lives.

"EMERGENCY BILLS" The bills being introduced by the politicians are all for these machines, there are millions of them in storage - waiting to be ordered. Yet every penny of this money was made by one group and one group alone: the miners who actually produced the coal in the mines.

This is not to indicate that new workers there, primarily on missiles, will in any way help those now out of work; spending for public works on a municipal and national basis can have but a piecemeal effect. The road bill will provide work primarily for machinery and materials workers, and road construction requires a lot of machinery, but few men. As for these machines, there are thousands of them in storage just waiting to be ordered.

The only measure thus far proposed which "helps" those laid off is the extension of unemployment benefits. This can hardly be called a solution to the problem.

Of all the proposed programs for improving the economic condition of the country, it seems that only the extension of unemployment benefits is producing anything like a real answer to the problem that produces the economic crisis.

© FROM THE BACKS OF THE WORKERS

The miners can be taken as an example, but the same applies to every worker in every industry.

Last year the Consolidation Coal Company had a net profit of $22 million. This is after all the salaries, wages, interests, taxes, and profits paid; after all the equipment was bought; after paying expenditures for modelling and building new plants; after paying 40c per ton of coal mined; interest on the New Welfare Fund; after paying the wages of the clerical workers; after paying the wages of the miners who actually produced the coal.

Yet every penny of this money was made by one group and one group alone: the miners who actually produced the coal in the mines.

The bills being introduced by the politicians are all for these machines, there are millions of them in storage - waiting to be ordered. Yet every penny of this money was made by one group and one group alone: the miners who actually produced the coal in the mines.

The only measure thus far proposed which "helps" those laid off is the extension of unemployment benefits. This can hardly be called a solution to the problem.

Of all the proposed programs for improving the economic condition of the country, it seems that only the extension of unemployment benefits is producing anything like a real answer to the problem that produces the economic crisis.

© FROM THE BACKS OF THE WORKERS

The miners can be taken as an example, but the same applies to every worker in every industry.

Last year the Consolidation Coal Company had a net profit of $22 million. This is after all the salaries, wages, interests, taxes, and profits paid; after all the equipment was bought; after paying expenditures for modelling and building new plants; after paying 40c per ton of coal mined; interest on the New Welfare Fund; after paying the wages of the clerical workers; after paying the wages of the miners who actually produced the coal.

Yet every penny of this money was made by one group and one group alone: the miners who actually produced the coal in the mines.

The only measure thus far proposed which "helps" those laid off is the extension of unemployment benefits. This can hardly be called a solution to the problem.

Of all the proposed programs for improving the economic condition of the country, it seems that only the extension of unemployment benefits is producing anything like a real answer to the problem that produces the economic crisis.

© FROM THE BACKS OF THE WORKERS

The miners can be taken as an example, but the same applies to every worker in every industry.

Last year the Consolidation Coal Company had a net profit of $22 million. This is after all the salaries, wages, interests, taxes, and profits paid; after all the equipment was bought; after paying expenditures for modelling and building new plants; after paying 40c per ton of coal mined; interest on the New Welfare Fund; after paying the wages of the clerical workers; after paying the wages of the miners who actually produced the coal.

Yet every penny of this money was made by one group and one group alone: the miners who actually produced the coal in the mines.

The only measure thus far proposed which "helps" those laid off is the extension of unemployment benefits. This can hardly be called a solution to the problem.

Of all the proposed programs for improving the economic condition of the country, it seems that only the extension of unemployment benefits is producing anything like a real answer to the problem that produces the economic crisis.

© FROM THE BACKS OF THE WORKERS

The miners can be taken as an example, but the same applies to every worker in every industry.

Last year the Consolidation Coal Company had a net profit of $22 million. This is after all the salaries, wages, interests, taxes, and profits paid; after all the equipment was bought; after paying expenditures for modelling and building new plants; after paying 40c per ton of coal mined; interest on the New Welfare Fund; after paying the wages of the clerical workers; after paying the wages of the miners who actually produced the coal.

Yet every penny of this money was made by one group and one group alone: the miners who actually produced the coal in the mines.

The only measure thus far proposed which "helps" those laid off is the extension of unemployment benefits. This can hardly be called a solution to the problem.

Of all the proposed programs for improving the economic condition of the country, it seems that only the extension of unemployment benefits is producing anything like a real answer to the problem that produces the economic crisis.

© FROM THE BACKS OF THE WORKERS

The miners can be taken as an example, but the same applies to every worker in every industry.

Last year the Consolidation Coal Company had a net profit of $22 million. This is after all the salaries, wages, interests, taxes, and profits paid; after all the equipment was bought; after paying expenditures for modelling and building new plants; after paying 40c per ton of coal mined; interest on the New Welfare Fund; after paying the wages of the clerical workers; after paying the wages of the miners who actually produced the coal.

Yet every penny of this money was made by one group and one group alone: the miners who actually produced the coal in the mines.

The only measure thus far proposed which "helps" those laid off is the extension of unemployment benefits. This can hardly be called a solution to the problem.

Of all the proposed programs for improving the economic condition of the country, it seems that only the extension of unemployment benefits is producing anything like a real answer to the problem that produces the economic crisis.

© FROM THE BACKS OF THE WORKERS

The miners can be taken as an example, but the same applies to every worker in every industry.

Last year the Consolidation Coal Company had a net profit of $22 million. This is after all the salaries, wages, interests, taxes, and profits paid; after all the equipment was bought; after paying expenditures for modelling and building new plants; after paying 40c per ton of coal mined; interest on the New Welfare Fund; after paying the wages of the clerical workers; after paying the wages of the miners who actually produced the coal.

Yet every penny of this money was made by one group and one group alone: the miners who actually produced the coal in the mines.

The only measure thus far proposed which "helps" those laid off is the extension of unemployment benefits. This can hardly be called a solution to the problem.

Of all the proposed programs for improving the economic condition of the country, it seems that only the extension of unemployment benefits is producing anything like a real answer to the problem that produces the economic crisis.

© FROM THE BACKS OF THE WORKERS

The miners can be taken as an example, but the same applies to every worker in every industry.

Last year the Consolidation Coal Company had a net profit of $22 million. This is after all the salaries, wages, interests, taxes, and profits paid; after all the equipment was bought; after paying expenditures for modelling and building new plants; after paying 40c per ton of coal mined; interest on the New Welfare Fund; after paying the wages of the clerical workers; after paying the wages of the miners who actually produced the coal.

Yet every penny of this money was made by one group and one group alone: the miners who actually produced the coal in the mines.

The only measure thus far proposed which "helps" those laid off is the extension of unemployment benefits. This can hardly be called a solution to the problem.

Of all the proposed programs for improving the economic condition of the country, it seems that only the extension of unemployment benefits is producing anything like a real answer to the problem that produces the economic crisis.