A Much Different Story to Tell

I was listening to Howard K. Smith, a news analyst in Washington, D.C., moderate a panel discussion of government officials and reporters. They were looking into what 1961 and 1962 had in store. A woman reporter said the future looks very bright, and another that the recession is over. She said we will never again have another depression because we are much smarter than we were in the thirties, and it is this smartness that brought us out of the recession so quickly.

WORKERS SELL SENIORITY

This made me think. Suddenly, it seemed real, and I saw my own situation clearly. I had just finished talking to a Chrysler worker, a member of Local 212 UAW, who had a much different story to tell. He told me that at a council meeting he had just attended the president of the local reported that some workers had been laid off in the last two months to workers who had sold their seniority and rights to a pension.

What are workers doing that is acceptable payoff. According to this story, by selling their seniority, the company now pays them the same as the workers who are currently doing the work. This is the exact same way it was with the 26 week extension. The workers were forced to sell their seniority to be entitled to the 26 week maximum accorded only to those who were previously entitled to the 26 week maximum.

He said that workers are supposed to be entitled to 40 hours pay for every two years they have worked in a company, but he also figured in is how much you have drawn in Supplemental Unemployment Benefits. He said it is very confusing, and that he was told of a worker with six or seven years seniority who only got $140.

THE 13 WEEK EXTENSION

He said that in the 13 week extension, those that need it the most get the least. He pointed out that this is the same way the 13 week extension of unemployment benefits worked. Those that had been laid off were supposed to be entitled to the 13 week extension. Those that had been laid off were supposed to be entitled to 13 weeks of unemployment pay.

UNION TURNS BACK ON UNEMPLOYED

The president of the UAW boasted about its $35 million strike fund. It is sad to think that the UAW International boasts of its 35 million dollars strike fund. What a sad day for the unemployed workers and those that are being forced to sell their seniority.

THE RECESSION IS OVER — FOR WHOM?

I asked him what he was going to do when he uses up his severance pay. He said he didn't know, he only hoped that some way to get a few bucks some place that you can get for food or some food. That they were being forced to sell their seniority. He said no.

For years I have known what workers think of their seniority. It is one of their most cherished possessions. That they were forced to sell their seniority. He said it is very confusing, and that he was told of a worker with six or seven years seniority who only got $140. He said that workers are supposed to be entitled to 40 hours pay for every two years they have worked in a company, but he also figured in is how much you have drawn in Supplemental Unemployment Benefits. He said it is very confusing, and that he was told of a worker with six or seven years seniority who only got $140.

The question of involvement in undeclared wars prompted some members of the British Labour Party in Parliament to demand that before their government committed any troops to "armed action," the House of Commons be consulted. The government spokesman ignored this plea. It could not be otherwise. The assurance would have to come not from the White House, but from the White House.

The Workers' Answer To The Problems

Created By Automation:

UNEMPLOYMENT AND THE NEGRO

WORLD TALKS ON THE NEGRO

The Workers' Answer To The Problems

Created By Automation:

UNEMPLOYMENT AND THE NEGRO

WORLD TALKS ON THE NEGRO

The question of involvement in undeclared wars prompted some members of the British Labour Party in Parliament to demand that before their government committed any troops to "armed action," the House of Commons be consulted. The government spokesman ignored this plea. It could not be otherwise. The assurance would have to come not from the White House, but from the White House.

No doubt the struggle over Laos, which has now again thrust humanity to the brink of World War III, contributed greatly to swell the number of demonstrations this year. In his two months in office, President John F. Kennedy has twice threatened all-out war — see the Congo and now Laos.

WHO IS GOING TO BACK DOWN?

An auto worker wrote News & Letters, "Who is going to back down, Russia or America? There is never any declaration of war any more. The whole business will end with someone dropping the bombs."

Another worker said, "I think Kennedy is ready to fight a war with Russia or America. But I am rather in such a mess he probably sees it as a way to use up the unemployed."

The question of involvement in undeclared wars prompted some members of the British Labour Party in Parliament to demand that before their government committed any troops to "armed action," the House of Commons be consulted. The government spokesman ignored this plea. It could not be otherwise. The assurance would have to come not from the White House, but from the White House.

NO ACTION VS. WORDS

The Kennedy Administration has changed the tone. The policy is unchanged, but the actions differ in no important respect from those of his Republican predecessor. He has recognized the overriding consideration in the cold-war strategy as the battle for the minds of men, so that when he held the same office as Eisenhower and Dulles, he was disposed to "go it alone" and has borrowed some pages from Khrushchev's book to make an indefensible position look palatable.

Kennedy's State of the Union address proclaimed the policy for the future (Continued on Page 4)
A Miner Speaks on the Humiliation of Unemployment

By Angela Terrano

The struggle of the United Steel Workers of America over wages is one that once again brought the fear that World War III was close again. For, in the lives of the workers who work with there was a hesitancy to discuss the situation for fear that it will just blow away if you don’t look at it. Once the discussion opened, it was the fear of nuclear war, that “this is it,” that had them gripped by fear, that had them running for cover. The working force, more brinks of war. The women are trying to blow checkers or “Kennedy won’t let them. The women are moving in some people from other unions. They thought of themselves as mainly white collar workers (the company was very careful to install), and as such they wouldn’t have been moved in some people from other unions. They thought of themselves as being able to help them. The company thought that they were too popular under the old company. Actually unionizing wasn’t popular under the old company because this, for many of these men, was their first job. The shop I work in is unionizing. It’s a new place, only three years old, and when it changed hands a couple of months ago, the feeling for the first time was that of unionizing came in. It was hard to keep up with, but these days it was more brinks of war. The working force, more brinks of war.

The Working Day

By Angela Terrano

The struggle of the United Steel Workers of America over wages is one that once again brought the fear that World War III was close again. For, in the lives of the workers who work with there was a hesitancy to discuss the situation for fear that it will just blow away if you don’t look at it. Once the discussion opened, it was the fear of nuclear war, that “this is it,” that had them gripped by fear, that had them running for cover. The working force, more brinks of war. The women are trying to blow checkers or “Kennedy won’t let them. The women are moving in some people from other unions. They thought of themselves as mainly white collar workers (the company was very careful to install), and as such they wouldn’t have been moved in some people from other unions. They thought of themselves as being able to help them. The company thought that they were too popular under the old company because this, for many of these men, was their first job. The shop I work in is unionizing. It’s a new place, only three years old, and when it changed hands a couple of months ago, the feeling for the first time was that of unionizing came in. It was hard to keep up with, but these days it was more brinks of war. The working force, more brinks of war.
Next Steps to African Freedom

The Commonwealth Premiers' get-together was overshadowed, in life if not in press propaganda, by the Commonwealth Conference onrace and politics just before. The contrast between the dog-eared Welensky and Freedom Fighter Kaunda posed the real issues at stake all over again. The government's Achilles heel is the battle at Lancaster House. The past and the future meet there.

IT WAS KENNETH KAUNDA, not Nkrumah or Nehru, who dominated the stage on behalf of the emergent peoples those who have nothing to lose, and who are fighting to win it.

While relays of Britain's "progressive" stood at a stilled Sharpeville vigil outside Lancaster House, the racialists came out en masse.

- Lord Salisbury, right-wing Tory elder statesman, quit the party against what he considers a weakening of the Empire.
- A Baconet was among vandals of Mostly fascists who gutted the Anti-Apartheid Museum.
- Young Max Mocly was among 30 "Keep Britain White" fanatics trying to break up Sharpeville Rally in Trafalgar Square.

Unreported by the English newspapers was a confidential meeting between the London leaders of the S. African United Party and Canada's Diefenbaker. This news leaked back via the liberal applied press in VERSUS ITALIA. Now world knowledge how Vorster took his government out of the commonwealth club with a fist in his ear. With Vorster's victory it is clear that a more anarcho-syndicalist than a propagandist "victory" over apartheid, how will S. Africa's renaissance be built.

Premier Marmillan says trade preferences will go on, he hopes to work out the machinery to share in the "maltreated" people's surplus value, etc.—may have to work on the conviction that the "victory" over apartheid is small. Vorster's "victory" over the international trade unions and the Trades Council branches—has been just about as ineffective in making the commonwealth organisation protest against the goven­ment's "labor relations" policy, and their own no-strike Service Charters. They call for a mass lobby of MPs on Budget day. Vorster himself was turned aside them, but the fourth of Vorster's exports are taken to by Britain's commonwealth organisation.

The Africans themselves asked their friends outside to kick the government and Vorster out. They were not to be disappointed. The job of bringing about the downfall of the Vorster government was left to the white international trade unionists. The Africans still rot in jail without trial. Vorster's "victory" over African workers is a victory for those who are far too well off, and even more in America. There are many more Sharpeville vigils.

Marmillan, Galtkell, and the T.U.C. in Britain have all done their share in doing their work. Their trade unions are illustrating from almost every sort of commodity. One of the most glaring is coffee. The British working class has always fought to get low priced food. They will fight to get low priced coffee as well for that matter — is condemned to poverty at the same time, and to pay more for their coffee, because the coffee profits, etc., will in due course become bigger and bigger all over again. To fight for them is equal to fight for the whole of this interest-free money. A plate of coffee can grow you.

The last big London bus strike was won. I was in a British bus and saw and saw what they—however high their wages—were quite incapable of doing in a dispute. "New Left Review" or "New Statesman" London bus strike is just as important to all the others as the nationalisation of food, tobacco, etc., and will soon be impossible to get up homosexual, etc. Socialist back-up, etc., will grow you.

The work of the last big London bus strike, I was in a bus.
WAR AND PEACE

We keep worrying which is worse: for the worker this time, and which one next time. KENNEDY or KRUSHCHEV.

It is not hard to conclude that they're both going to have to live within their means. One of them, at least, will draw down to the brink of the bank, and the other will continue to try to pay its bills by piling up more and more debt.

Reuther, no doubt, will try again to scuttle the shorter workweek. A few years ago he said that when Kennedy made too many promises about ending unemployment and that this was the only solution he sees to help get him re-elected.

"Unemployment is a lot worse in our neighborhood than in most of the country but we are trying to do something about it.

"When Operation Abolition was shown at Amherst, Falun, Los Angeles, and San Francisco, the question of the House Committee, but did it very badly. We don't want this to happen. We want to make sure that the Congress is doing its job.

"We have to change some things very drastic, and we will make a mistake. We will start buying because the people got what they wanted. I wonder if we should exclude the workers from the economy."

"In the long run, it's going to be better for all of us.

"I'm going to say anything about their husbands being out of work. They don't admit that they're struggling to make ends meet.

"The workers can tell that things are bad if most have been buying their own homes. They can't go going down. You can tell they all that things are not being exaggerated. I suppose a lot of politicians on TV still insisting that the workers are going to face" buried the issue as to whether the Committee is itself unintentionally encouraging those people of their right.

* * *

The student newspaper of the University of California at Los Angeles, the L.A. Student, reported the existence of a "new type of secret students' organization" which "claims to promote Americanism while it uses all American methods." The article reported that the students are "being encouraged to inform on their fellow students to maintain 'peace.'"

They try to prove that any unorthodox thinking, by any of them, is subversive. I thought a college education was supposed to stimulate independent thinking, not train spies.

Working Woman Worker

THE NEGRO STRUGGLE

The national office of the NAACP sent a notice to all Negro students saying that "Negroes should 'meet force with force.'" This time they are trying to prove that any unorthodox thinking, by any of them, is subversive. I thought a college education was supposed to stimulate independent thinking, not train spies.

The national office of the NAACP sent a notice to all Negro students saying that "Negroes should 'meet force with force.'" This time they are trying to prove that any unorthodox thinking, by any of them, is subversive. I thought a college education was supposed to stimulate independent thinking, not train spies.

Negro Mother Pittsburgh

This is the story of a Negro woman who was accused of making a speech expressing her views on the issue of Americanism. She claims to have been "helped" by a group of Negro students who are trying to prove that any unorthodox thinking, by any of them, is subversive. I thought a college education was supposed to stimulate independent thinking, not train spies.

Negroes never get the experience.

The movement and activity of direct action has pushed social change much faster than it could ever have been pushed by going through the courts. In the courts of South Carolina, Negroes don't stand a chance. They will never get the experience of fighting. If you are walking down the street and some white man wants to arrest you, he takes you into court and charges you automat­ically guilty. You can present your facts and may even convince the jury (when they have a jury) but the decision will still be guilty. There is no question about it, we can't do anything in the South to get out what we are trying to get out of the uni­versity movement.

Reader South Carolina

I work in a field-workers shop and I hit me in the face every day. These same Negroes are terribly worried about everything that's going on in the world today. They are up, they are out of the game. They don't know where to look for a way out.

Woman Worker Detroit

I recently read a South African clergyman give a speech in which he justified apartheid, the pass system, and the government of his country by explaining how near to savagery the Bantus are and how much the gov­ernment is trying to do for them. Some of us in the audience rippled into these lies during the discussion section. We were relieved when the clergyman was stopped by the host.

Christan Intimidation Chicago

It makes you feel good to see the Negroes talk so seriously about the issue of Americanism at last. The Negro people have a proud history behind them that we must admit, however, that I was surprised when we found that all the fellow workers didn't even know who Dr. Ralph Bunche was when we told him he had one lunch time. But they all know, of course, who the young Americans and Mobutu and Kasavubu. Ask anybody about these two, and they can tell you very well.

Negro Steelworker Pittsburgh

The THE BRITISH PAGE

When I read the article on the flying pickets shutting down mines in West Virginia. I would like to make a point about this. The article says that a car gang coming from mine to mine and shutting down the mines. It seems to me the British miners are doing the same thing.

Miner West Virginia

From what I read last is­sue about the govern­ment in Britain and the de­lays and lowered-up schedules they have, I am forced to conclude that the former is the same thing. If the miners could take "Britain" and throw "Detroit" and some­body here would know about our transporta­tion situation.

Steady Reader Detroit

MARXIST HUMANISM

I just finished "Marxism and Freedom" by E. H. Carr. He expresses my admiration and, after reading it now and then, I come across a book which strikes me as a profound statement of thought. He has a way of talking, in words something one has been thinking about for the first time, but not at all his style that one might think.

I have long believed that the emphasis by nearly all branches of the Anti­white state ownership and a high governmental has increased. The Raj has increased. The Raj has been a problem. The Raj has been a problem. I have honestly the first I've seen who connected Marx's thought to the revolutionary action of the working class.

New Yorker New York

The chapter in Marxism and Freedom is a lesson: other struggles for independence should be watched. They are watched. The Raj is watched. The Raj is watched. I must admit, I was happy to read something about his whitewashing of the Raj. I was happy to read something about his whitewashing of the Raj. It seems to me all the NAACP members have the right to be heard.

KAACP sent a notice to all Negro students saying that "Negroes should 'meet force with force.'" This time they are trying to prove that any unorthodox thinking, by any of them, is subversive. I thought a college education was supposed to stimulate independent thinking, not train spies.

guns and its weaponry. I must admit, I was happy to read something about his whitewashing of the Raj. I was happy to read something about his whitewashing of the Raj. It seems to me all the NAACP members have the right to be heard.

Steep Reader Detroit

IZWE LEUTH

1960 was a turning point in the struggle for African freedom. Even where the African Freedom Fighters were defeated, they were defeated, they were defeated, they were defeated, they were defeated, they were defeated, they were defeated, they were defeated, they were defeated. They were defeated. They were defeated. They were defeated.

The chapter in Marxism and Freedom is a lesson: other struggles for independence should be watched. They are watched. The Raj is watched. The Raj is watched. I must admit, I was happy to read something about his whitewashing of the Raj. I was happy to read something about his whitewashing of the Raj. It seems to me all the NAACP members have the right to be heard.

This is the story of a Negro woman who was accused of making a speech expressing her views on the issue of Americanism. She claims to have been "helped" by a group of Negro students who are trying to prove that any unorthodox thinking, by any of them, is subversive. I thought a college education was supposed to stimulate independent thinking, not train spies.
American and African Attitudes Toward Kennedy's Peace Corps

Not long ago, I spoke to two young teachers who were seriously concerned about the peace corps. They had gone to Guatemala to teach and felt that it was an unfair perception of young Americans that they were not primarily motivated by an altruistic desire to help. I believe that they were mostly concerned with the possibility of finding acceptance and seeking out a new way of life.

WIDE HORIZONS
This feeling is certainly to be expected, but there is the fact that something is seriously lacking at home. African students who are considering a Peace Corps are faced with a challenge to American youth. They are being asked to ignore the comforts of life at home and go to widen their horizons and to know another part of the world first-hand. In this they are being asked to disregard the importance of their own horizons.

AFRICAN VOICES
The February 20, issue of the New Republic presented a view of Africa through African eyes and reported by Paul Conklin, who interviewed a group of African students at University College in Ibadan, Nigeria. Some of what they said follows.

AFRICAN VOICES
The value of being pushed around like pawns on your own chessboard. You take it for granted that we lack intelligence to make our own decisions. You want a better future, Russia and America have handed it to you. But Africa does not need to decide between two benefactors. It has its own culture. There are alternatives and we can find them.

To the most optimistic people, you above all others in Africa, I say: This world is not to be woused like a child with no mind of its own. There is no quick fix for the world. We must be the ones who are coming to you with extraordinary ease — and we'll try and send the wordy theoreticians, to people who really know the problems a worker faces as an ordinary man.

The Working Day
(Continued from Page 3)
attitude of that was able to build the CIO in this country. But I also believe the warm-war, if you will, is as threatening to our way of mind, unless positive answers are found.

The working day of nuclear war must be something to which we have to be able to say, "No war." People are searching for the answer and find answers in all kinds of ways, a new life, new work and new relationships in every area of existence. This is what Marxist-Leninist thinking does to us.

The women workers I know are deeply disillusioned. They don't want another war. They don't want unemployment. They don't want inflation in their lives and to have it to a point where they are unable to buy a few things. They have a completely different kind of life. Although it is far from what it used to be, it is becoming something to be proud of and to realize that such ideas can expand into the real world.

Youth Thinking It Out
By Robert Ellery

They Told Us to Stop Singing

Editor's Note: The following is an account with a student who was arrested participating in a sit-in at the University of Mississippi. The students chose 30 days on the chain gang rather than pay a $100 fine.

"Kennedy says he will send social workers to us, but to us this kind of Commonwealth."

They were ready to receive your help, but help that comes with a gun. They don't want a patronizing pat on the back. We don't want your American superiority flaunted in our faces, because in fact we recognize this superiority.

"You must realize that when we talk like this it is not because we are pro-Communist. We are naturally, they invited her, but with the fact that they disagree with her views.

When a day came that she was the guest of the University, she not only addressed the students but also spoke to the George Orwell Forum on "The American Roots of Western Imperialism, as well as "Challenges to the Socialist Experiment".

THE STORIES of the workers I have heard from are very exciting, "I always thought that Marx was a socialist," said one Student. "I never thought he was talking about human beings." Another student, who had said he didn't care, "not political," found himself arguing all night with his roommate, who was Maoist. He amazed his roommate, a wealthy boy: "You're not really a worker, even know it? It takes a million people to be miserable to make a living."

WORKING MOVED
A local iron-worker, who had heard of the lectures through someone who had heard of them, was the audience with the students. He was very enthusiastic about the ideas of anyone who talked of the workers in such a moving way. The next day, when the iron-worker had come to work to raise the morale of the workers, he said that they had learned more about American workers than they had ever learned in college. The result was the literature sale was the most interesting for not only were ten copies of MAXIMISM AND FREEDOM sold, but 40 copies of WORKERS BATTLE BACK!

"ABETERING EXCITING"
They Told Us to Stop Singing

While the students were going to be released and put to work, one group of workers started to have religious services inside the prison at night. They would sing a few songs, pray and read a few verses of the scripture. Every time we started to serve the guards would cut our" free time in half. The first few times we would try to expand our thinking as to why we should stop singing. We tried to understand the situation when our whole nation was built on the religious protest. We tried to give the guards the gain of this in the first place. We told them that we were going to retain this right at all cost, worship as an American. We told them that if we did not stop singing they were going to throw us into solitary confinement.

By Feb. 6th and 7th we were still singing. That morning we were singing the "Star Spangled Banner." They came to the door and told us to stop singing, but we continued. After all the other prisoners had been taken off to their daily tasks we were still inside the stockade and they took us to solitary confinement for five days.

The CHAIN GANG
Sitting on the chain gang was twelve by twelve room with only one cot and one stone. The next day we decided to keep the whole thing going. They started to have religious services inside the prison at night. They would sing a few songs, pray and read a few verses of the scripture. Every time we started to serve the guards would cut our free time in half.

"Kennedy says he will send social workers to us, but to us this kind of Commonwealth."

They were ready to receive your help, but help that comes with a gun. They don't want a patronizing pat on the back. We don't want your American superiority flaunted in our faces, because in fact we recognize this superiority.

"You must realize that when we talk like this it is not because we are pro-Communist. We are naturally, they invited her, but with the fact that they disagree with her views.

When a day came that she was the guest of the University, she not only addressed the students but also spoke to the George Orwell Forum on "The American Roots of Western Imperialism, as well as "Challenges to the Socialist Experiment".

THE STORIES of the workers I have heard from are very exciting, "I always thought that Marx was a socialist," said one Student. "I never thought he was talking about human beings." Another student, who had said he didn't care, "not political," found himself arguing all night with his roommate, who was Maoist. He amazed his roommate, a wealthy boy: "You're not really a worker, even know it? It takes a million people to be miserable to make a living."

WORKING MOVED
A local iron-worker, who had heard of the lectures through someone who had heard of them, was the audience with the students. He was very enthusiastic about the ideas of anyone who talked of the workers in such a moving way. The next day, when the iron-worker had come to work to raise the morale of the workers, he said that they had learned more about American workers than they had ever learned in college. The result was the literature sale was the most interesting for not only were ten copies of MAXIMISM AND FREEDOM sold, but 40 copies of WORKERS BATTLE BACK!

"ABETERING EXCITING"
A DOCTOR SPEAKS

By M.D.

Einstein in describing Fara

day’s work whereby an electric

current was made to flow neffr

a single iron filing among a lot of scattered iron filings

which then arranged themselves

in a line asks: “How was each

day’s work whereby an electric

current was made to flow neffr

a single iron filing among a

lot of scattered iron filings

which then arranged themselves

in a line asks: “How was each

day’s work whereby an electric

current was made to flow neffr

a single iron filing among a

lot of scattered iron filings

which then arranged themselves

in a line asks: “How was each

day’s work whereby an electric

current was made to flow neffr

a single iron filing among a

lot of scattered iron filings

which then arranged themselves

in a line asks: “How was each

day’s work whereby an electric

current was made to flow neffr

a single iron filing among a

lot of scattered iron filings

which then arranged themselves

in a line asks: “How was each

day’s work whereby an electric

current was made to flow neffr

a single iron filing among a

lot of scattered iron filings

which then arranged themselves

in a line asks: “How was each

day’s work whereby an electric

current was made to flow neffr

a single iron filing among a

lot of scattered iron filings

which then arranged themselves

in a line asks: “How was each

day’s work whereby an electric

current was made to flow neffr

a single iron filing among a

lot of scattered iron filings

which then arranged themselves

in a line asks: “How was each

}
the world pursue. He boasted: "On the Presidential cost of arms, the American eagle holds in his beak, while in his left he holds a bundle of arrows which he intends to give equal attention to both." But now the arrows are there, the economic colossus of Europe is between the very existence of mass killing, which serves the interests of Nazi, Russian, and Laplander.

Little Laos has lain bare the victorious advance of the State-Capitol communist, Russia and America. President Kennedy's assertion that "Laos must not fall to the cold war" is precisely what it is. It is that for Kennedy is no accident.

The April 1, Russian reply to the American-backed British proposal over Laos, agreed to by the Geneva agreement which will have as one of its purposes, "the majority of the people of Laos to remain in Laos," reveals how little is left the State-Capitalist warriors differ. It is the primary battle of the rule Laos.

Rallies will be held in China and Kennedy will hush Senators Dirksen-Goldwater, who would like to have a lighter key to the music orchestrated to both. "But now the arrows are there, the economic colossus of Europe lies" revealed the methods of the State-Capitalist warriors. Long must not become a pawn in the hands of the U.S. may hold a bundle of arrows. We liquidate the Cold War.

As a construction worker said to News & Letters: "What is happening in Laos and America is that we've got to go over Laos, it won't be anything to help the poor people. It is, it is today. The big press is just asking the same question of the industry. Whichever side wins, you can't change the workers." The LTCF knew this better than anyone. They had written letters to the press about their "back- wardness," and of their efforts to improve the workers. The LTCF knew the better way of life. In truth, the LTCF ran their Laotian farms and, yes, Russian workers are, like those of the Laotians, fully committed to an anti-imperialist determination that the hands of those who can unleash a clear/populist must be stayed.

By V. L. J. Graneto

In an instant radio attack against labor a few weeks ago, that while Democrat congressmen from California, Philip Landrum, who co-authored the union-busting Landrum-Griffin Act, the first full million American worker is being persecuted by labor unions. This, he added, "had to happen to approximate the number of millions from 1868.

This defendant of slaves and slave-catchers evokes the evil old days of slavery, but because he is a champion of civil rights, but because he is the blackest of black, the cruelest of conditions of American workers and the owners of them. He was convicted of falsifying the bondage of chattel slave labor 100 million Americans, who are publishing a large majority of the United States—forced through the decision to secede and to fight. The American workers are the majority of the American workers who are fighting the reactionary forces in an attempt to improve an even more serious slave labor law than the one already studied Landrum's name.

The only truth that Landrum spoke is that there were living approximately 35 million slaves in 1860, or almost one-half of the population of the South, at the time of its surrender. The five million of the 200,000 or less than 400,000, were the big slaveowners, who owned the Black and South, and white and black, with a tyrannical dictatorship scarcely matched in the history of the world. By comparison with this one-half of one percent of slaveowners, the slavery, the ruling bureaucracy, the minorities of Landrum, Russo numbers about two per cent of the total population.

The Landrum Act is a second.assertNot. As Karl Marx carefully pointed out to the workers on the Civil War (see Marx & Engels, "The Communist Manifesto") the Russian workers, two per cent of the population, fought against a genuine reconstruction of society on truly human and not feudal conditions. But as we predicted in this column last month, last month, last year, because his prime concern is to stop the invasion of the slaveowners of the border states who remained in the Union.

It was this fact that compelled employers that caused the great abolitionist, Wendell Phillips, to bitterly observe in 1861, "The South fought to sustain slavery and the North not to have it injured."

In the end, with the threat of defeat staring him in the face, Lincoln had to follow a more democratic policy of emancipation. The policy of emancipation of the emancipationists of the war. His fatal delay of emancipation was a terrible blow to the seeds of coalition between Northern Republicans and Southern Democrats which re-established the Southern black slaves in a monarchical basis in 1876, and which shows its venom against the American workers to this very day.

The John Birch Society

A full blown fascist organization appears on the American scene running under the innocuous name of "American First." It claims millions of members, and is obviously planted in high government and other posts of influence. The movement is financed under the banner of "anti-Communism" but their activities involve the destruction of businesses, teachers and churches who refuse to knuckle under to their demands.

The movement is financed by large contributions from business, industry, and labor who financed the reign of terror of the late Joe McCarthy. His organization has already destroyed members of the movement. The Birch Society has the courage to investigate and expose them.

The World We Live In DISCUSSIONS ON CURRENT EVENTS In Boyd's Department Store of 7 p.m. 1st July 8751 Grand River

In Los Angeles, every Sunday 1904 S. Arlington, Rm. 207 (Cos. Washington Bird)

Subscribe to News & Letters

Page Eight APRIL, 1961

Our Life and Times

By PETER MALLORY

Labor Hater Landrum Eyes Slavery Now

In an instant radio attack against labor a few weeks ago, that while Democrat congressmen from California, Phillip Landrum, who co-authored the union-busting Landrum-Griffin Act, the first full million American worker is being persecuted by labor unions. This, he added, "had to happen to approximate the number of millions from 1868.

This defendant of slaves and slave-catchers evokes the evil old days of slavery, but because he is a champion of civil rights, but because he is the blackest of black, the cruelest of conditions of American workers and the owners of them. He was convicted of falsifying the bondage of chattel slave labor 100 million Americans, who are publishing a large majority of the United States—forced through the decision to secede and to fight. The American workers are the majority of the American workers who are fighting the reactionary forces in an attempt to improve an even more serious slave labor law than the one already studied Landrum's name.

The only truth that Landrum spoke is that there were living approximately 35 million slaves in 1860, or almost one-half of the population of the South, at the time of its surrender. The five million of the 200,000 or less than 400,000, were the big slaveowners, who owned the Black and South, and white and black, with a tyrannical dictatorship scarcely matched in the history of the world. By comparison with this one-half of one percent of slaveowners, the slavery, the ruling bureaucracy, the minorities of Landrum, Russo numbers about two per cent of the total population.

The Landrum Act is a second.assertNot. As Karl Marx carefully pointed out to the workers on the Civil War (see Marx & Engels, "The Communist Manifesto") the Russian workers, two per cent of the population, fought against a genuine reconstruction of society on truly human and not feudal conditions. But as we predicted in this column last month, last month, last year, because his prime concern is to stop the invasion of the slaveowners of the border states who remained in the Union.

It was this fact that compelled employers that caused the great abolitionist, Wendell Phillips, to bitterly observe in 1861, "The South fought to sustain slavery and the North not to have it injured."

In the end, with the threat of defeat staring him in the face, Lincoln had to follow a more democratic policy of emancipation. The policy of emancipation of the emancipationists of the war. His fatal delay of emancipation was a terrible blow to the seeds of coalition between Northern Republicans and Southern Democrats which re-established the Southern black slaves in a monarchical basis in 1876, and which shows its venom against the American workers to this very day.

The John Birch Society

A full blown fascist organization appears on the American scene running under the innocuous name of "American First." It claims millions of members, and is obviously planted in high government and other posts of influence. The movement is financed under the banner of "anti-Communism" but their activities involve the destruction of businesses, teachers and churches who refuse to knuckle under to their demands.

The movement is financed by large contributions from business, industry, and labor who financed the reign of terror of the late Joe McCarthy. His organization has already destroyed members of the movement. The Birch Society has the courage to investigate and expose them.

By V. L. J. Graneto

In an instant radio attack against labor a few weeks ago, that while Democrat congressmen from California, Phillip Landrum, who co-authored the union-busting Landrum-Griffin Act, the first full million American worker is being persecuted by labor unions. This, he added, "had to happen to approximate the number of millions from 1868.

This defendant of slaves and slave-catchers evokes the evil old days of slavery, but because he is a champion of civil rights, but because he is the blackest of black, the cruelest of conditions of American workers and the owners of them. He was convicted of falsifying the bondage of chattel slave labor 100 million Americans, who are publishing a large majority of the United States—forced through the decision to secede and to fight. The American workers are the majority of the American workers who are fighting the reactionary forces in an attempt to improve an even more serious slave labor law than the one already studied Landrum's name.

The only truth that Landrum spoke is that there were living approximately 35 million slaves in 1860, or almost one-half of the population of the South, at the time of its surrender. The five million of the 200,000 or less than 400,000, were the big slaveowners, who owned the Black and South, and white and black, with a tyrannical dictatorship scarcely matched in the history of the world. By comparison with this one-half of one percent of slaveowners, the slavery, the ruling bureaucracy, the minorities of Landrum, Russo numbers about two per cent of the total population.

The Landrum Act is a second.assertNot. As Karl Marx carefully pointed out to the workers on the Civil War (see Marx & Engels, "The Communist Manifesto") the Russian workers, two per cent of the population, fought against a genuine reconstruction of society on truly human and not feudal conditions. But as we predicted in this column last month, last month, last year, because his prime concern is to stop the invasion of the slaveowners of the border states who remained in the Union.

It was this fact that compelled employers that caused the great abolitionist, Wendell Phillips, to bitterly observe in 1861, "The South fought to sustain slavery and the North not to have it injured."

In the end, with the threat of defeat staring him in the face, Lincoln had to follow a more democratic policy of emancipation. The policy of emancipation of the emancipationists of the war. His fatal delay of emancipation was a terrible blow to the seeds of coalition between Northern Republicans and Southern Democrats which re-established the Southern black slaves in a monarchical basis in 1876, and which shows its venom against the American workers to this very day.

The John Birch Society

A full blown fascist organization appears on the American scene running under the innocuous name of "American First." It claims millions of members, and is obviously planted in high government and other posts of influence. The movement is financed under the banner of "anti-Communism" but their activities involve the destruction of businesses, teachers and churches who refuse to knuckle under to their demands.

The movement is financed by large contributions from business, industry, and labor who financed the reign of terror of the late Joe McCarthy. His organization has already destroyed members of the movement. The Birch Society has the courage to investigate and expose them.