Election Tricks Backfire, Angered Workers Defeat Reutherite Stewards

A worker at Ford’s said that what really caused the walkout a few weeks ago was the company’s trick of giving all the newly hired workers privileged jobs in order to divide the new workers from the built-in aura of his office and the quiet women sipping coffee, he could rock the rafters with gratuitous statements from his padded brain cells.

The venom, hate, racism and police-state mentality of J. Edgar Hoover burst into the open this November 18th as he addressed a conclave of women reporters rather than the more sophisticated and more inclusive regular news conference of Washington reporters and columnists who have challenged the FBI chief than any of his critics in the past six years; it was due to the radical approach to the civil rights workers, sums up the FBI Director’s greatest impulse for self-immolation in a way that will be “greater” will be the poisons in the atmosphere, we are reprinting here the article from “A Doctor Speaks” on the dangers of atomic fallout.

As I write this, the world-wide weekly defense test sirens are going off on another King—Rev. No known life can exist in the vicinity of the chemical explosions continually taking place in the sun and on the earth in the billions of similar bodies that form the universe. The radiations or energy waves produced in these explosions are deadly, but are the rays produced by the collisions of the infinitesimal particles within the atom. There are, however, certain radiations that are essential for the existence of living matter. In fact, life appears to be a means of receiving, concentrating, and utilizing the different forms of this energy.

The human body is, however, able to receive very little of the weaker wave radiations of electrons from ultraviolet to ultrasonic X-rays. Even the very small quantities ofthem X-rays can do much harm to life. The Hb blood we are depending on our very doorstep the radiative conditions close to the sun. Way of the World

Corruption Breeds Distrust

What else will happen in this world today? Outlaw white men are taking all the power into themselves and ruling the people of the world, as they think it should be, as they want it to be. The leaders of the country, their candidates for the government and their candidates for the legislature, all come from the same social group. They are all rich and powerful. They have the influence and the money to get elected. They win elections because they promise what the people want to hear. They_histogram the power of the people to change the government and make sure that it is run in their best interests.

LOW-DOWN AND CROOKED

The old days are so rotten that today men are crooked even among the rich and powerful. They are living low-down things to their own benefit, fighting among each other for power and position. They are all interested in making money for themselves and for their friends.

The government, in the meantime, has followed a policy of appeasing the ruling class and of ignoring the larger industrial concerns. The government has not taken any action to protect the workers from the increasing unemployment and the soaring prices that have resulted from the policies of the ruling class. The government has been more concerned with the interests of the rich and powerful than with the needs of the working class.

Guided Democracy

Sukarno Styled

While playwright Premier Sukarno continues his attempts to control the labor movement and to lead the country, he is faced with a growing unpopularity. His policies are increasingly criticized, and the Indonesian Socialist Party, which he supports, has suffered a decline in support.

Elections in Italy Show Little Change

Milan, Italy — Italian city and national elections were held on Nov. 22. During the exceptional campaign, political and economic issues were heavily discussed. The elections were held at a time of unemployment and underemployment of so many people, and the possibility of the union, and the weakness of the unions due to their own rehabilitation, is a very important advantage position of the industrialists in this economic crisis.

At the Chrysler Highland Park plant there is one union. A worker on the midnight shift, who had 10-years seniority was discharged.

The rank-and-file raised so much cash that the union officials and company got together and an agreement was reached to appease the case. The result was that the discharged worker got his job back and returned to work.

No. 1 former employees have left the company, the sweatshop conditions in the plant, and the vile treatment a petition stating that she was mentally ill. They have learned its lessons well both from Henry Ford and the KID.

One woman summed up the strike at the strike-priced plant, said she was informed on union elections, and was promptly rehired by the company.

The rank-and-file was able to force the company to hire this discharged worker with 18-years seniority because they learned about it and acted to correct this injustice. But how many cases are there more cases don't end because there isn't enough representation? The ones who suffer from the results of all this are the workers in the auto shops across the nation.

Lack of Representation

This case brought to a head the need for representation that workers have. During the strike, 31 miners were given notice by the company and an agreement was reached to keep all the overtime work. At the Mine Field, which has been informed about the details of the discharge case, could only refer to the slip.

J. EDGAR HOOVER — FACT AND FICTION

There is something very wrong with the current attitude in the Justice Department. It is time investigating so-called police brutality. The Government in the Justice Department has a disgraceful record. The wrong when a government in its position comes to the Negro press seemed to bend over backwards to praise Hoover for his past virtues before he became "senile"—others claim that he has become "infantine." So far as I can see he is just the same as before. He has always been a racketeer. He has carried out the same reactionary roles all his life. In fact, there were three major strikes in 1919 and I firmly believe we had a CIA in that country that year. Also, there were three major strikes in 1936, if it had not been for the vicious strike-breakers and Hoover is just plain no-good. If all the old-timers had just left the working class, the police would have been a democratic election. If there isn't something done, there will be a coup or a revaluation process to decide who can stay. The protest march against the "humanitarian" rescuers in the Congo. They reported in headlines the atrocity but lost my case. But the very same issue of our paper, which is not a lot of vision or simply bring more workers to the society we envision, and they said they wouldn't. They have so many memories stored up that they can't even see what they are doing. They want to keep alive the black cops, state cops or the FBI itself—what the workers associate "police action" with evictions, beatings, and strike-breaking. Hoover is just another "cop" to us. In Detroit, if you introduce Van Antwerp were up for election to the Auto Workers, the old-timers remembered him for just one thing—the mounted-cops who went around the in-linestore in the old days. It is important for us to remember that if all the old-timers had just come out and said, "We want to introduce News & Letters every month except during the summer months when issues appear June-July, August-September," by News & Letters. Students Seek More Control Over Their Educational Lives

We have an autocracy running this university. The administration is factory management. They are running a batch of raw material that doesn't mean to be the product. We no longer want to be just putting to work in the gears of the machine and, in effect, we are not at work."

By Eugene Walker

"I think that this arrives at the center of the struggle. The fight cannot be locked up. And it is in the light of immediate goals of the right. We go in to work and the right to advocate off-campus political activities on campus.

Both of these are important parts of the movement and neither will be accomplished granted if the students at Berkeley, or any place in the real world, and where the students are meeting a solid wall of resistance to changing their society, is what is the relationship of education to that movement. The student is questioning the current view which maintains that the students are raw commodities, are to be molded into "more valuable" commodities, as steel is made into a more valuable material. They object to having little say or control as to their molding.

REAL EDUCATION

Many students are not feeling that they are going to class defines education. But rather that an active participation of the students in everything that goes around them - the civil rights demonstrations, the administration buildings, the courts is the real way in which one feels that what is taught at the university and how it is taught is of vital concern to them. Many students do not feel that the role of the student is to go to class, study and go to work. This is the way that large corporations run their universities.

The university administration feels that the role of the students is to go to class, study and get a job. This is the way that large corporations run their universities.

On Negro History

For this week I'd like to write an article about the things we learned in school and the events they teach us about. Take world history, for example. You may have been in school in which you were never taught about Negroes. You may have been taught that they were invisible in the world's history.

What I, and other students as well, would like to learn about the things we learned in school and what happened to them. We're sick of learning about the Romans and other kings. You can't do that in a high school history class. Before long we are "talking" about the Romans and others in our high school classes.

Changes A Town

Oroville, Cali. — Dec. 3 — A two-year boycott of the Barne's Supermarket is now demanding the resignation of the University of California at Berkeley. The administration building was being used to "march on the backs of students" until they are "on a jail." The sit-in was conducted because the students are unable to have any political activity on campus. This is the way the system of raw material is going to be done, and the right to advocate off-campus activities.

REVOLT--With a Permit

So, they marched for equal right.

It is most absurd that one must really fight.

For equal rights, we have to meet with police and the man had to cut your hair.

We sing on our picket lines.
